

Steve Lowe

Background

Steve Lowe founded LSM Systems Engineering Inc. in 1989 as a part time company. LSM became a full time company in 1996. LSM has grown into a manufacturing engineering company that supplies hardware and services such as camshafts, cylinder blocks, cylinder heads, lifters, valve springs, pumping heads, complete CNC machining and grinding, engineering, research and development and low to medium volume production for the aftermarket, industrial and OEM markets. LSM's high performance racing products have won major championships and racing events such as Indy car, NASCAR, NHRA drag racing, Lemman 24 hrs, Trans Am, Daytona 24 hrs, Bonneville speed records, Desert racing, Stadium truck racing, Truck and tractor pulling (gas and diesel), Motorcycles, Garden tractor pulling and racing, Marine offshore, drag racing and hydroplane. LSM has in house engineering, design and inspection capability. LSM is involved in advance engine development and manufacturing programs for specific customers. LSM Systems Engineering is a world class Engineering and manufacturing company.

Steve Lowe worked at advanced engineering General Motors. Steve Lowe started approximately 1980 and left approximately 1996 to work fulltime at LSM Systems Engineering Inc. During Steve Lowe's employment at General Motors he worked in many areas such as engine design and development, driveline and braking, HVAC, manufacturing and assembly, electrical, vehicle and engine build, systems development, noise and vibration, durability. Steve Lowe is currently President of LSM Systems Engineering Inc. and High Density Powertrain Inc.